The diagram illustrates the assembly of a rectangular block into a frame. It consists of two parts: a top view and a side view. The top view shows a rectangular block with a small rectangular protrusion on its left side, being inserted into a larger rectangular frame. The frame has a dashed line indicating the internal cavity. The block is shown in two positions: one where it is being inserted (labeled '1') and one where it is fully seated (labeled '2'). The side view shows the block fully seated within the frame, with the dashed line indicating the internal cavity.
